Mr. Superville, a new Confederate envoy, has been dispatched to France via Texas, to notify the Emperor of the recognition of his revolutionary government in Mexico, and to mildle ask that this small favor will be reciprocated by a counter recognition of their ness? own independence. This is putting in straw bail with a vengeance. The rebels, who have tion, fell into puerile railing and wrangling no right to the government in the seceded States, propose to indorse the conduct of the French in Mexico, where the latter have no legal or moral right to power. There certainly ought to be some sympathetic feeling between these fellow adventurers, and Napoleon is ungrateful if he does not aid his fellows. It may be urged, as impertinent fellows will urge his place. sometimes, that the rebel indorsement is of recognition through M. Superville will be without insulting common sense? If we must valueless; but if the French were to do so, negotiate with Davis & Co., appoint a man the aid of the new nation, even struggling as who commands their respect, if he be an eneit is now, would be worth more to assure the my. That is a dictate of common sense, if we

this country and the French possessions. If, by the aid of Napoleon, the rebellion should succeed in establishing itself as a permanent government, the effect would be still further advantageous to him; for with the less of the territory of the seceded States, and the overthrow of our own Government, we would lose all interest in the Mexican question. Whether Napoleon, Maximilian, anarchy cr Satan ruled, there would be a subject over which we would not feel the slightest anxiety or have the smallest care. In such an improbable event, however, the ccupation and permanence of the French as New a power in Mexico would be of immense isterest to the nev power. The Coniederacy would spring to life only to find itself closed in between one power hostile and mortified, and another antegonistic, ambitious and domineering. It would have to come into life like Minerva, from the brain of love, full armed from tip to toe, and prepared to do battle against the aggressions of France and the United States. The establishment of the Confederacy would at once after the relations of the Confederacy would at once after the relations of the Confederacy would at once after the relations of the Confederacy would be confederacy would be confederated by the confederated WE HAVE SECURED THE ENTIRE CONTROL OF the above celebrated CLOTHES WRINGER for Kentucky and part of the State of Indiana. Confederacy would at once alter the relations between the United States and France. Now, to secure a foothold in Mexico, the Emperor's interests are antagonistic to the Union; to fissely person, and in 1836 was published in a book. In the year 1837 he was appointed coadpintor to Bishop Dubois, of New York, who was then in feeble health, and on the death of the latter, in 1838, was made administrator of the diocese. He did not sueceed to the full dignity of Bishop until 1842, built half a loaf better than no bread, and would allow France not only to recover her laterate would be willing to concede something; the Union would think half a loaf better than no bread, and would allow France not only to recover her laterate would be willing to concede something; the Union would think half a loaf better than no bread, and then their interests are antagonistic to the Union; the Protestant Religion the Religion of Christ?" The debste ran through several through s and would allow France not only to recover Mexico, but such part of the C the two powers-our own and the Frenchmight settle among themselves. Thus the existence of the new Government would begin with difficulties scarcely less dangerous than John's College, Fordham and became involved those through which it passed into being.

The concession, therefore, of the French usurpations in Mexico is a real concession. It is something which the wise and wily leaders of the rebellion would never consent to were they not driven to it by the direct extreme. Our interest in the matter is contingent, but whether the Union is restored or not it is contrary to the interests of the John Hughes, Catholic Archbishop of New York, was the son of a respectable farm-er in the north of Ireland, and was born in the year 1798. The elder Hughes came to this country early in the present century, and his son followed him at the age of nineteen. He was at first placed with a florist to learn the art of gardening, but having little taste for it, devoted his leisure hours to study, and as soon as his engagement had 'expired entered the Theological Seminary of Mt. St. Mary's, at Emmetsburg, Md., where he remained several years, being for the most of the time employed as a teacher. He was ordined with the little was reduced whether the little was r on, was to remove the tenure of church opposit operty from the hands of lay trustees. By this means the heavy debts on the churches of his diocese were consolidated and eventually paid off, and the power and influence of the John's College, Fordham, and became involved in the controversy on the Common School question, which has been agitated between Catholics and Protestants ever since. In 1845 he again visited Europe for the purpose of bringing over Jesuits, Sisters of Mercy and Brothers of the Christian Schools. In 1846 he was offered, by President Polk, but declined, a special mission to Mexico. In 1850 New York was raised to the dignity of an Archiepiscopal See, and Archbishop Hughes went to Rome to receive the insignia of his office from the hands of the Pope. In of his office from the hands of the Pope. of his office from the hands of the Pope. In Southern States for a rival and formidable power to be established in Mexico.

In the present position of affairs in the Confederacy it is, of course, whise to give up any Mexicau dream they may have had. It would be wiser to yield even more than that to gain what they have in view, as it is cheaper always to give away what you haven't got than what you have.

It is hardly likely, however, that Napoleon of New York was held, and attended by seven suffragan bishops. Not long after its close, the Archbishop went to Rome, to be present at the definition of the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception. On his return, a controversy arose between him and Erastus Brooks, of the New York Express, growing out of a bill which eventually passed the Legislature, vesting the title of all church property in trustees. It was stated by Mr. Brooks, in the bishop owned property in the city of New York to the amount of S5-It is hardly likely, however, that Napoleon will accept their delusive offer. Grateful as a pledge of araity from the South would be to him in his designs, it would hardly be valuable if there was a condition of the hostility of the United States attached to it. The offer is but one move in the desperate game of the Southern leaders, and most apt to be tutile.

Washita.

The Natchez district comprises territory within the lines of the army operating from the north, which lies south of the districts above designated. II. An Assistant Special Agent for each district above named will be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, whose duties, under the Regulations, will be prescribed by the letter of appointment, or as may be therein directe.

III. Local Special Agents and Agency Aids will be appointed by the Assistant Special Agents for their respective districts, but in all cases these appointments must be forthwith reported to the office of the Supervising Special Agent for approval, stating the date when service commenced, rate of compensation, and location of each. Compensation will in no case be allowed for service performed more than twenty days before notice of the Supervising Special Agent.

IV All reports required to be made by Local Special Agents, under the Regulations, must be made as therein required, on or before the third day of every month, and Assistant Special Agents will remove any Local Agent failing in this.

V. Any Surveyor failing to make the reports required by the Regulations at the time specified therein, will be promptly reported to the office of the Supervising Special Agent, by the Assistant Special Agent for the district, that his default may be at once brought to the attention of the Secretary.

VI. All reports required under the Regulations forwarded to the office of the Supervising Special Agent, before the 10th day of each month. Any failure to go this will be reported to the Secretary.

VII. In order to prevent, under pretense of legitimate trade, the conveyance of supplies which are intended for persons in rebellion against the Government, or for places under the control of insurgents, and also to prevent undue accumulation of goods at points in dangerous proximity to districts under the control of insurgents, it is found necessary to restrict, temporarily, the trade with certain parts of States not declared in insurrection, from which the insurgents could be otherwise conveniently supplied; therefore, no merchandise designed for sale will be permitted to go to any place in the State of West Virginia, on or south of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, between Oakland and Grafton, nor to either of those places, nor to any place on or south of the Northwestern Virginia Railroad, between Grafton and Parkersburg, nor to either of those places, nor to any place on the south side of the Ohio river, between Parkersburg and the mouth of the Big Sandy; nor to any place in the State of Kentucky, upon or south of a line drawn from the mouth of the Big Sandy to Bowlinggreen; thence to the northeast corner of Logan county; thence to the northern boundary of Logan, Todd, Christian and Trigg counties, to the Cumberland river; thence down that river to its mouth, including all that part of Kentucky west of said river; nor to any place in the State of Kentucky.

Jefferson, Ste. Genevieve, Perry and Franklin, except upon and in pursuance of the certificate of the proper local special agent, and the letter of appointment and instructions to such agent will in all cases indicate the amount of merchandise he will be allowed to recommend for his district.

VIII. The only officers authorized to permit the transportation of merchandise into such restricted districts in loyal States by either of the above named officers in their discretion, or by the Local Special Agents

XI. No trade, either in buying or selling, will be authorized in any State declared in insurrection, except within lines hereinafter designated, under Regulation IX.

XII. No sale of merchandise therein can be made except by traders authorized under the Regulations to establish trade atores.

XIII. Trade stores will not be established at any place within a State declared in insurrection, until it shall be agreed by the military commander of the department, or of the army corps district in which such place is situated, after a conference between him and the Supervising Special Agent or such Assistant Special Agent as shall be designated by him for that purpose, that the same may be done.

XIV. After a place has been so agreed upon, if it a military post, no supplies shall be allowed to o therefrom except upon the permit of the proper scal Special Agent, countersigned by the com-nander of the post, or some person authorized by local Special Agent, countersigned by the commander of the post, or some person authorized by him for that purpose.

XV. The monthly amount of goods that may be permitted to any trading post shall be agreed up no between the proper assistant special agent and the commanding officer of the army corps district in which such trading post is situated. The maximum amount that may be authorized to any individual or firm shall also be agreed upon, and this shall not exceed $3,000 per month unless the commanding officer for military reasons desires it to be larger, and if such reasons exist, all persons trading there shall be equally affected thereby. If the monthly amount allowed to any trade store be not all taken up by the trader during the month, he may be allowed all deficiencies upon any future application during the continuance of his authority.

XVI. Persons living within the lines of national military occupation may obtain permits for the purchase of supplies at such trade stores, on application to the nearest Local Special Agent, with a memorandum in duplicate of the supplies desired, and on making and filing with him the affidavit prescribed in regulation XVI. The Local Special Agent will, on receiving such application and affidavit, and file the same; and will attach the other memorandum, countersigned by him, to a permit, and deliver it to the applicant, charging and receiving the following fees therefor:

If the sum is under $5, he will dispense with the affidavit and certificate, and only charge

Nor is this the worst. Between the volunteer brokers and certain of the authorities there is at least prima facie evidence of something like compileity in a scheme of fraud the [Special to the Tribune.] most cruel, ruthless and gigantic that modern days have witnessed. In almost every street of our city parents are lamenting the enlistment of their hapless sons, mere boys, between fourteen and seventeen years of age, who have been made drunk and then enlisted and robbed of every dollar of their bounty. Cases are on record in which old, gray-headed men, tottering on the verge of the grave, have been carried, while intextent of the provential of the case of the grave. their general appearance spruced up with some semblance of fictitious juvenility, and then enlisted, their bounty money being the reward of the patriots engaged in this honorable business. A MAN BAKED TO DEATH .- The Newark (N. J.) Journal records the following:

On Saturday last a man named David Winston, employed in Stengel's patent-leather manufactory, Plane street, was missed from his work, and it was supposed that he had left the premises. On Tuesday an unpleasant smell was noticed in the vicinity of a large heated chamber, and on Wednesday the smell increased in offensiveness. One of the men in the factory entered the archway to ascertain the cause, and there discovered the body of Winston reclining against the wall. The chamber was too hot to allow of the immediate removal of the remains, but it was evident that the unfortunate man had been literally baked to death. He had probably gone in for the purpose of warming himself, and was so overpowered by the heat as to be unable to find his way out. The oven was cooled off yesterday afternoon, and the body removed from its awful tomb. On Saturday last a man named David Win-

tucky, having joined the two armies about the same time. The son was appointed to guard the door of the car in which his father was a prisoner. The old rebel seeing his son a the door, presumed to take more liberties than the rule allowed, and, coming forward, put his head outside the door. The son, who had evidently been trained to his duty, instantly approached and ordered his father to "get back, there, you d—d old rebel." Fact! Colonel Miller heard the remark.

JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT-Fifth Day .-In the circuit court yesterday but a small amount of business was transacted. Margaret Burns was tried for grand larceny and found not guilty. The case of P. J. Nichol son, charged with malicious shooting, was continued. The next case called was that of Jacob Medard, charged with the murder of his father, seventy seven years of age, by starving him to death and exposing him to the cold. There was considerable difficulty in obtaining a jury, a large number who had been summoned having formed an opinion as to the innoence or guilt of the party. A jury was at last impanneled, and about one o'clock the testimony in the case was commenced. The entire afternoon was consumed in the examination of three witnesses. The case will be resumed this morning, and will no doubt occupy the entire day.

COUNTERFEITERS AT WORK AGAIN .- The Cincinnati Enquirer learns that a certain gang of counterfeiters have for some time past been making preparations to put in circulation a new counterfeit on the well-known red-back fives of the bank of the State of Indiana. The counterfeit is excellent, and well qualified to d ceive most people, unless a close examination is made. An attempt will probably be made to-day or to-morrow to "shove" a large quantity of this stuff in the city. ja16 deod3&w From the New York Herald.1 DERINGER PISTOL-CAUTION TO MANUFAC TURERS AND DEALERS—The Derivger pistol, celebrated for more than half a century as the most deadly weapon in existence, has for some years been extensively counterfeited, both in America and Europe, the imitations having been sold and circulated in various sections of the country, principally in New York, as the genuine Deringer pistol. Some of these bogus dealers and manufacturers have circulated reports that the undersigned, the original inventor and maker of this world renowned weapon, is deceased; that there are no genuine Deringers made; that the imitation is superior to the original, &c., &c. It has also been brought to my notice that a new breech-loading pistol, called the Deringer (under a Moore patent), is offered for sale in New York and other places, and placards with my name have been publicly exhibited in or-der to secure the sale of a pistol entirely unknown to me. In view of the facts set forth above to me. In view of the facts set forth above the undersigned gives a first and final notice to all dealers, manufacturers and others that it is his intention to rigidly prosecute to the fullest extent of the law—as he has done in the State of California, for which he has been awarded heavy damagee—all such as may persist, on and after this date in using as may persist, on and after this date, in using his name or trade mark, or in any manner whatsoever infringing upon his rights as the sole manufacturer and inventor of this weapon. He also takes this method of inweapon. He also takes this method of informing the public that he has appointed, in addition to his agents, Messrs. Curry & Bro., San Fraucisco, and Messrs. Wolf & Durringer, Louisville, Ky.; and his sele agents in the Eastern States, the well known firm of Mesrs. Tiffuny & Co., 550 and 552 Broadway, New York, who will always be supplied with a varied assortment of the genuine "Deringer pistol," which are stamped on the lock-plate and breech with my name.

XXXVIIIth Congress-First Session. WASHINGTON, January 15. SENATE.

SENATE.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, all prior orders were suspended, and the House bill providing for the deficiency appropriation for paying the officers and men in the Western Department of Missouri was considered, and after being amended, was passed. The bill appropriates $7,000 612.

Mr. Love, of Virginia, off-red a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for the names of special agents and assist ants now in the emilloy of the Treasury Department, the States from which they were appointed, their operations, pay and enrollments, which was agreed to.

The Senate, in Committee of the Whole, roceeded to the consideration of the enroll-d bill.

Mr. Doclittle proposed an amendment pro hibiting enlisted men from serving as aubsti-tutes, except in States where they culist.

The amendment was reported to the Sen-

Mr. Nesbitt moved that the Senate rescind rebellion, the Senate was amusing the country with schemes of how to do their work, and it was time to look the matter boldly in he face. The amendment was rejected. Mr. Sumper renewed his amendment requring a tex on incomes. Rejected.
Mr. Doolittle moved to amend by making persons who have resided in the United States one year and have voted at any election liable to the draft. Adopted. Mr. Sherman renewed his amendment to substitute five hundred justead of three hun dred as the maximum for commutation.

Mr. Lane, of Ind., would, without discourtesy to the Senate, move to amend the title of the bill as it now stands by calling it a bill to raise a tax by lottery from certain able-bodied raise a tax by lottery from certain able-bodied men, who are unwilling to enter the service. [Laughter]. He would vote against the expansion of an impracticable, cumbersome bill. He wanted a conscription bill; this was not such a bill, nor a bill of revenue.

Mr. Harris moved to amend Mr. Shermans amendment by inserting four hundred instead of five hundred dollars, as the price of commutation, carried—22 to 19. On motion of Mr. Jchuson the Senate adjoured till to-morrow.

HOUSE. The House proceeded to the consideration of the contested election case.
